

XPP Peruse & Review option End of Support Announcement

January 31, 2025

XPP Peruse & Review is an XPP option that was used by customers who implemented the XyView as their primary content creation and editing tool, or when there was no requirement to update the content source after the editing and production of a document was completed. When this purchasable option was implemented 40 years ago there were few applications that could provide this functionality as part of a publishing workflow. A lot has changed since then, and the adoption of content management systems that retain the trusted content source, and where the content review and edit activities are performed, is now ubiquitous.

This has led to our decision to set the End of Support date for XPP Peruse & Review as December 31, 2025.

Customers currently licensed to use XPP Peruse & Review may continue to do so, but support for it will terminate on December 31, 2025, and we may choose not to deliver the program with the XPP installer in any new XPP version released after that date.

If you have any questions or concerns about this notification, please contact me directly.

Jennifer Goodman
Product Management Director
JGoodman@rws.com